

Further development of TRIZ

Development of TRIZ occurs in the usual way for a science. There are two interconnected directions of development. On the one hand any science aspires to cooperate with «environment» – other sciences as much as possible.

The Second direction – perfection of internal mechanisms, development of old tools and creation new.

The necessary condition of such perfection is presence and the minimal serviceability «TRIZ-teams».